

Prayer and Praise:

Discipleship

I've been incredibly thankful this past month for the students that show up consistently, week in and week out, for weekly times of discipleship. We've been walking our students through a resource called, "The Gospel Centered Life," and it's been a highlight each week to see student's eyes more opened to how the Gospel pertains to all of life. As these students grow their roots deep into the Lord, we're convinced it will overflow in the months to come.

Homeschooling

Our family's homeschool community continues to meet on Mondays and strengthen the friendships that have grown between the families. Christy has navigated some complex situations as she continues to use her gifts to direct the community. Please pray for her to have endurance and wisdom as the winter months approach.

PUTTING THE GOSPEL IN ARMS REACH OF EVERY STUDENT AT CORNELL AND SUNY CORTLAND

Innovating for the Gospel

When student at SUNY Cortland began being sent home for the semester due to rising COVID cases, our Cru student leaders set themselves to pray and innovate. They decided that if the campus was moving away from them, they would find ways to move toward the campus. So, on a recent Saturday morning, students (pictured above) packed up "Cru Care Swag Boxes," and mailed them to students who had moved back home. The boxes were loaded with stuff like water bottles, bags, gift cards, and a book by John Piper titled, "Christ and the Coronavirus." Please pray God would move in these students! On that same afternoon, over 30 of our Cornell men split up and gathered at the staff's houses for an incredible time of fellowship and bonding. My guys spent the afternoon playing frisbee golf at a nearby course and then watched an impactful video about sexual-integrity from one of our Cornell Cru alumni named Josh. Time's are complex but God's plans are not thwarted!
